Message to the Industry

The 17th century French author Francois de la Rochefoucauld wrote, "The only thing constant in life is change." It's also been said that the time to reach toward new heights is when you can view the horizon from the mountain top, not the valley floor.

Kelly Miller

The 2006 - 2007 Marketing & Communications Plan embraces both philosophies. Working closely with industry partners, this year's plan is an aggressive program of work designed to make the Asheville area even more top-of-mind among our guests. It builds upon the successes of 2005 - 2006 which included launching the new Asheville brand platform and creative advertising campaign, conducting a community-wide Destination Product Development Charrette, co-sponsoring the revealing destination assessment by Roger Brooks and opening the new state-of-the-art Asheville Visitor Center. The plan is anything but static!

Specifically, our focus this year in all Convention & Visitors Bureau (CVB) departments will be brand promise delivery. That promise is what we aspire to deliver to our guests throughout the year. Every visitor interaction, each customer touch needs to reinforce Asheville's brand promise:

We guarantee you a life enriching experience each and every time you visit Asheville. It's personal, personal to you. And it is also personal to us. We live that same genuine experience and want to share it with you. We empower you to discover a collection of experiences that is as unique and varied as each individual who visits us, and allows you to do so in a warm, embracing and creative environment.

Last year was a stellar year for our industry. Occupancy rates, hotel sales, average daily rate and RevPar increased over the previous year. Now is the time to set our sights on even greater success. While working together with industry partners to deliver on our brand promise, our plan helps Asheville continue cutting through the marketing clutter and compete on emotional benefits, not simply destination attributes. Effectively communicating to potential guests that Asheville is welcoming, natural and vibrant will continue paying dividends not only for our industry, but also the community and region.

The plan also recognizes the need to continue the productive community dialogue generated by the Roger Brooks visit and the Destination Product Development Charrette. Managing, not just marketing, Asheville becomes equally important in preserving our authentic sense of place. To this end, the Buncombe County Tourism Development Authority and the Asheville CVB are committed to processes and deliverables that achieve this goal.

As always, your continued feedback is greatly appreciated. Without your support and partnerships, the Asheville CVB would not be able to undertake such an extensive program of work. We encourage you to read the plan and continue providing the CVB team with ideas for improvement whenever possible. To keep abreast of current CVB programs and activities, regularly visit www.ashevillecvb.com. We look forward to a prosperous and enriching 2006 - 2007!

The Asheville Area Brand

Brand Strategy

In October 2005, after more than 18 months of research and discovery processes, the Buncombe County Tourism Development Authority (BCTDA) and the Asheville Convention & Visitors Bureau (ACVB) launched a newly positioned brand. The underlying brand proposition, "Enrich Your Life," speaks to the emotional benefits of an Asheville area getaway versus the physical attributes (mountain scenery, attractions and vacation offerings) that were so prevalent in past advertising efforts and, in many ways, common among many destinations.

By playing on the very personal, often unscripted, but transformational nature of the Asheville area, the destination carves out a category that is unique. While the mountains, beautiful scenery and attractions are important, it is the combination along with the interesting people and diverse interests that evolve into a distinctive experience that empowers visitors. And, it is the resulting emotional connections that come to the forefront in advertising, marketing and sales efforts.

The idea of enrichment permeates the program of work that will be undertaken by the ACVB on behalf of BCTDA. Staying true to the brand will also govern the approaches that are taken by the ACVB, the details in the work and how this area manages its future. Delivering on the promise while ensuring the core destination values of welcoming, natural and vibrant are met will be paramount.

Asheville's brand promise serves as a guarantee to each guest who visits the area. It is the responsibility of the tourism industry and the community to continue to create the welcoming, natural and vibrant environment that makes this area distinctive and empowers guests to find their own unscripted, memorable experience.

Culturalization

Currently, the BCTDA is in the culturalization phase of branding which means the ACVB staff makes every effort to ensure that each visitor truly lives the brand promise when visiting our area. You will notice throughout the Marketing Plan that each department is working to utilize the brand to advance the ACVB's program of work. While it is critical that the ACVB incorporates the brand, it is equally important that each partner understands and incorporates the brand to ensure one consistent message about our area is communicated.

During the 2006-2007 fiscal year, culturalization of the Asheville area brand includes:

- Continuing education of industry partners.
- Ensuring that all ACVB programs, including development of new tourism products, are on-brand.
- Development of a front-line training program to assist hospitality employees in delivering enriching experiences.
- Cooperation with trade show task forces to ensure potential visitors begin to live the brand at first touch.
- Creation of detailed partnership programs with companies to advance the Asheville area brand.
- Work to develop immersion experiences appropriate for the brand.
- Education about the brand to community members, including how each person has contributed to its formation and how each can deliver on the promise.

Want to incorporate elements of the area brand at your organization?

Marketing & Public Relations Department

The ACVB's mission through Marketing & Public Relations is to promote the Asheville area as a premier travel destination through a variety of methods. The department oversees the relationship with BCTDA's advertising agency of record; works with a variety of national media outlets to generate substantial editorial and broadcast coverage; conducts ongoing industry-wide research and statistical examination of the tourism industry; maintains exploreasheville.com and ashevillecvb.com; and proactively manages and markets the Asheville area brand. A Tourism Product Development / Community Relations Manager will be added this fiscal year to oversee tourism product development and act as a community liaison for both traditional and non-traditional tourism industry partners.

Numerous new projects are on the horizon. A complete redesign of exploreasheville.com will ensure visitors sample Asheville's welcoming, natural and vibrant environment prior to coming to our area through interactive features and consumer-generated content. Proactive efforts of the PR team continue through customized pitches to journalists and during media tours in key markets. Through all these efforts, the goal is to increase awareness of the Asheville area brand.

Advertising

The “Unscripted” campaign launched last year will continue to serve as the cornerstone of the creative messaging for the Asheville area in the upcoming fiscal year. A new print ad, playing off the Yield to Temptation sign, will be added to the mix in the coming months. The complementary TV campaign will continue this year as well with concentration on the “Signs” spot which is generating positive feedback.

With a $2.3 million net advertising budget, the ACVB will also expand its online advertising efforts that began last year with the hiring of a new interactive agency. Innovative ads with built-in consumer interactivity will be used throughout the year. Opportunities for additional viral marketing components will also be used. With the launch of a new interactive Web site, keyword search will be used extensively.

The co-operative ad opportunities will also continue. However, based on industry input, many of the co-op offerings will be geared toward online opportunities with a decreased emphasis on print. Look for news in the next few months about the annual Ad Fair.

Strategies and Tactics

Leverage the Asheville brand as a welcoming, natural and vibrant destination to build emotional connections with potential visitors:

- Utilize the existing “Unscripted” print and broadcast advertising campaign.
 - Print will be primarily a combination of full-page and half-page four-color ads that will drive both reach potential and frequency of message.
 - Television and cable advertising will be a mix of 15- and 30-second branding spots placed in a quality, quantifiable environment.
- Use rich media and interactive ads that encourage visitors to spend time with the brand as well as drive traffic to exploreasheville.com.

Drive awareness as an overnight destination within key markets:

- Concentrate branding message through media coverage east of the Mississippi River, particularly in the Southeast and mid-Atlantic regions, or in markets within a 100 – 700 mile radius.
- Concentrate message delivery against core audience of adults 35-64 with a household income of at least $75K+ during peak decision-making times; in a conducive, quality environment; at primary points of interaction; within selected geography.
- Focus media spending during key timeframes when the target is in decision-making mode.
- Utilize geotargeted buying for online advertising.
- Specific Geographic Targeted Markets:

Generate quality leads and increase Web site visitation so as to increase bookings:

- In general, the majority of media exposure will happen during peak decision-making times to affect business during the top three seasons - spring, summer and autumn - which in turn command the most return on investment opportunity due to higher average daily rates.
- Use call to action to drive visitation to exploreasheville.com or 877-GO.TO.AVL to familiarize and entice the potential visitor so as to achieve a future overnight visit.
- Measure and analyze effectiveness of media results so as to make smart buying decisions.

Build strategic partnerships that leverage the brand, expand buying power and create media efficiencies:

- Explore viable partnerships with like brands to enhance and augment the Asheville area destination brand while maximizing media efficiencies.
- Use Ad Fair to continue offering cooperative advertising opportunities for local partners while expanding media budget and reach.
- Participate in cooperative opportunities offered through industry organizations such as the NCDTFSD, AdvantageWest and Blue Ridge Mountain Host.

Leverage the synergies between print, broadcast and online components to maximize financial efficiency and increase reach:

- Seek added value opportunities for media buys that focus on online initiatives.
- Create integrated campaigns that weave traditional print and broadcast media with online initiatives and media relations efforts to create broader reach.

Tourism Department

The Tourism Department's extensive program of work stretches through multiple markets including leisure tourism, group tour and international. Leisure travel promotion is the big focus of the 2006 - 2007 fiscal year. The newly created Leisure Travel Manager position looks to the community for interesting and distinct experiences where visitors can dive into Asheville's cultural landscape. Using www.exploreasheville.com, the ACVB plans to offer visitors more opportunities to engage with our destination in authentic and creative ways that represent marketable opportunities to our industry partners, including niche market packaging and itinerary ideas.

As another strategy to reach leisure travelers, established programs aimed at increasing overnight visitation from Southeast based AAA clubs, such as AAA Explore Asheville! Destination Training and FAM tours continue. Since the motorcoach market has remained steady for the past few years, the Tourism Department will work to maintain relationships with tour operators and continue to spread awareness of the Asheville area's offerings. Coordination with area partners and internationally focused associations as an effort to capture positive international leads for the area also remains a priority for the year.

Convention Sales & Servicing Department

During the 2005 - 2006 fiscal year, the Convention Sales & Servicing Department underwent numerous changes. Tim Lampkin was hired as the new Director of Sales, bringing fresh ideas and enthusiasm to the position as well as the entire department. Shortly thereafter, the Convention Servicing department merged with Convention Sales with the goal of streamlining work with meeting planners and providing a well-rounded approach when selling.

In the past, each ACVB sales manager focused on one particular market, such as SMERF, associations or corporate. After an evaluation of efforts and positive results, the sales managers now focus on cities, such as Atlanta and Charlotte, and very specific markets which tend to have a substantial amount of potential for our area. The Sales Support Manager takes on a larger role by overseeing the wedding market and helping to streamline the leads process and market research.

The upcoming year will see a more concerted effort on city-wide groups, Atlanta and Charlotte corporate and association groups, as well as innovative ways to reach meeting planners who are already familiar with our area. The sales and service team will fully embrace the Asheville area brand in an effort named 'Operation Brand Alive' to ensure each person has an enriching experience when working with the ACVB.

Convention Sales

Strategies and Tactics

Continue to increase in-person outreach efforts in key markets. The increased number of sales calls initiated in January are just now starting to pay dividends, it is important to continue to proactively pursue the best business opportunities for Asheville:

- Eleven sales trips to the Atlanta market with a minimum of two days focused on sales call activities. Traditionally these trips are in conjunction with the monthly meetings associated with GaMPI or GSAE.
- Six sales trips to the Charlotte area that are a minimum of two days with approximately 15 calls per trip.
- Utilize telemarketing firms for “blitz” type efforts in key markets with follow-up and in-person sales efforts by sales managers.
- Overall improved lead generation efforts with a specific project every month. For instance, direct mail to car clubs one month and regional associations every other month.

Increase the number, productivity and creativity of site visits and client entertainment by 15%:

- Signature entertaining event in the Atlanta market with quality pre- and post-event sales activities.
- Host a FAM event for 10 regional meeting planners that can impact Asheville with at least 500 room nights in the next 18 months.
- Work with local HelmsBriscoe representative to entertain other HelmsBriscoe representatives.
- Seek creative and unique ways to make site visits radiate the Asheville area brand promise.

Improve the effectiveness of electronic databases and electronic lead generation resources. Ideally, the goal is to develop databases that, when posed with an aggressive offer, will generate significant (5%+) response:

- Develop a leading edge e-newsletter for the group market. Utilize Yesowich model of a one point newsletter for distribution 12 times per year.
- Research best practices on database development techniques and implement as possible.
- Evaluate click per connection advertising on major meeting planner Web sites.
- Evaluate DMAI Mint program and other opportunities to purchase database information to assist in lead generation.

2006 - 2007 Objective

To produce 58,000 group room nights.

Increase the solicitation of groups that can meet off-season, and/or early week:

- Bounce back program for groups that previously held a meeting in Asheville but may be able to do another type of meeting in an off-season.
- Six lead generating mailings to begin in September that will highlight the opportunity, value and accessibility of winter meetings in Asheville.
- CDC based task force to create city-wide demand calendar for 2007 and 2008.
- CDC brainstorming efforts and best practice analysis of techniques to increase year-round meeting usage.

Operation Brand Alive is a concept that not only brings the brand to life for prospective guests, but also the letters, selling style and relaxed but responsive nature of our sales efforts. Working with the ACVB sales team will be an enriching experience:

- All programs, tradeshow and promotions align themselves with the brand core values and brand promise.
- Creatively reveal the brand essence in all customer contact and solicitation efforts.
- Capture the brand momentum and synergy through teamwork within the ACVB and with industry partners so that all clients experience the brand through brand-consistent site visits, FAM tours and other programs of work.

Convention Services

Strategies and Tactics

Increase sales impact by creating service programs that are dynamic, intuitive and complete so that they entice meeting planners to use the ACVB on a regular basis and are telling colleagues about the virtues of hosting meetings in Asheville. In addition, give meeting attendees valuable information and resources that will encourage them to stay an additional day or an incentive to return soon:

- Respond with speed, innovative ideas and solve problems for planners, thereby making it easy to meet in Asheville.
- Create a unique and powerful experience for meeting planners by compiling significant inventories of innovative ideas about activities and themes while maintaining examples and pictures of how other groups have incorporated these aspects.
- Provide pre-event e-mails to attendees with ideas about how to experience Asheville which will also encourage them to return.
- Capture e-mail addresses from as many groups as possible to utilize in the e-newsletter program.
- Become experts in the unexpected and unique venues in Buncombe County, enabling us to provide planners with several suggestions to any request.

Visitor Services

In January 2006, the Visitor Center relocated to the new Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce Visitor Center at 36 Montford Avenue. At 4,000 square-feet, the state-of-the-art facility is five times larger than the previous Visitor Center. Since it's usually the first stop for visitors, knowledgeable volunteers staff the center to ensure visitors begin living the Asheville area brand once they walk in the door. The center allows more opportunities to showcase the area's offerings in the hope of educating visitors and having them extend their stay.

New to the Visitor Center is the Chamber Concierge Services program. Now, those visitors who plan last-minute trips, can come to the Visitor Center and be assisted with securing area accommodations and itinerary planning. The Chamber Concierge Services program was modeled after Charleston's successful program but crafted to best assist the Asheville area visitor and benefit our community. For a nominal fee, accommodations can sell distressed inventory directly to the visitor.

The Asheville Shop is home to retail items from throughout Western North Carolina and is actually the size of the entire old Visitor Center. The shop includes gifts authentic to the Asheville area including pottery, music and books by local authors. Currently, the Asheville Shop is the only place to get an assortment of merchandise with the new Asheville destination logo, which can make a nice welcome gift for clients, family or friends.

The majority of positions in the Visitor Services department are paid, in full, by the Chamber. Therefore, each employee not only works to assist each visitor, but also to ensure that Chamber members reap the benefits of membership and exposure to visitors. Delivering enriching experiences and educating area visitors truly helps to further the brand and mission of the BCTDA.

Visitor Services

Asheville Visitor Center

Located at 36 Montford Avenue in the new Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce building, the new Asheville Visitor Center is first-class in every way. As visitors arrive they find a parking lot capable of holding around 150 cars, as well as motorcoaches and RV's.

Knowing that the Visitor Center is Asheville's front porch, every detail was carefully considered from brochure racks which open, not only for extra storage, but also for quicker stocking, to an event kiosk, which is centrally located and updated daily with community events and information.

One of the best features is the open floor space. Most days, benches are in place for visitors to rest before embarking on their Asheville journey. But, some days, the benches are pushed aside for locals who come demonstrating talents from basket-making to painting to slow-dancing and square-dancing.

Sponsorship opportunities for Chamber members are located throughout the Visitor Center to ensure that a member's business is prominent and showcased for the more than 250,000 visitors that are expected to visit in the first year.

An expanded attractions and accommodations board allows visitors to call directly to make reservations at accommodations, tours, attractions and even restaurants.

Chamber Concierge Services

In addition, the Chamber Concierge Services program, managed by Concierge Elaine Rich, assists in trip planning. Chamber-member accommodations sign up for the program and provide the distressed inventory information to Elaine who can then pass it on to visitors. Each property that signs up is visited by the concierge who learns the property's amenities to then pass along to the visitor.

In the few months since the program has been operating, more and more accommodations are signing up, and more and more room nights are being generated in our area. It helps to personalize each person's experience by ensuring that the accommodation is exactly what is desired by the visitor. Vacations as long as eight days have been booked so far.

The Asheville Shop

The Asheville Shop is the place to come for Asheville souvenirs like key chains, postcards and other usual trinkets. But it's also home to local pottery, soap, honey, books and music, as well as Asheville shirts, with both the Chamber logo and the new Asheville logo. Currently, the only place to buy new Asheville destination logo merchandise is The Asheville Shop. Each piece of merchandise bearing the new logo is reviewed to ensure it is in line with the brand platform and guidelines.

2006 - 2007 Objective

To improve the quality of the Asheville area experience by providing trained staff and volunteers to assist visitors with Chamber member collateral.

Strategies and Tactics

Continually improve the types of service offered to Visitor Center guests:

- Manage all visitor-related activities in the new Visitor Center, including the new accommodations concierge service.
- Continue to offer foreign translations of information that highlights area attractions.

Utilize the Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce Visitor Center services to increase the length of stay of visitors to the Asheville area:

- Utilize the new concierge service to promote relocation to and longer overnight stays in Asheville.

Create awareness of the Asheville area brand and improve the Asheville experience for visitors:

- Continue to develop the volunteer program with training sessions, FAM trips and appreciation receptions.
- Become more involved in community issues that ultimately affect visitors.
- Provide enhanced Asheville logo items for The Asheville Shop.

Executive Office

Serving as the liaison to the Buncombe County Tourism Development Authority (BCTDA) and Tourism Product Development Fund (TPDF) Committee, the Executive Office maintains communication with board members to develop and implement long-range strategic and operational planning.

In an effort to ensure the voice of Asheville tourism echoes throughout the community and regional hospitality industry, the Executive Director serves as a board member of NC Travel & Tourism Coalition, Southeast Tourism Society, NCDTSFD, NCACVB, Asheville Art Museum, Pack Square Conservancy and Asheville Parks and Greenways Foundation. On that note, the Executive Office also works closely with local, state and national elected officials on numerous issues.

In May 2006, the ACVB executed a first-ever Destination Product Development Charrette to develop a ten-year aspirational vision and plan for the development of new Asheville area tourism product.

The Executive Office oversees budget and financial issues and all departmental personnel and operations. Support is provided for all BCTDA meetings as well as Tourism Product Development Committee functions. Statistical information on the tourism industry is compiled for monthly reports that are presented to the board.

The CVB Team

Tourism Promotion in Asheville

There are as many ways to organize and fund a marketing and promotional effort for tourism development as there are cities in America. Each community structures its work in a slightly different way. In Asheville, the implementation of a room tax in 1983 led to the current organizational structure. Before that, the Chamber of Commerce, through the efforts of its Convention & Visitors Bureau (CVB), served as the primary tourism promotion agent with the assistance of partnership dollars from area attractions and hotels.

Marketing Asheville

As other Southeast destinations became prominent, the tourism industry in this area recognized the need for a dedicated source of marketing funds if it was going to compete. In 1983, hoteliers in this community agreed to tax themselves and earmarked the proceeds toward tourism marketing. The enacted legislation created the authorization to levy a two percent room occupancy tax on the rental of rooms furnished by hotels, motels and inns with five or more units. The BCTDA was established to administer the proceeds of the tax with the caveat that they could expend funds only to further the development of travel, tourism, and conventions in the county through state, national and international advertising and promotion. To implement the marketing plan, the BCTDA naturally turned to the Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce which was already the tourism marketing agent for the Asheville area. The Chamber's mission, "to enrich the region's livability by advancing its economic vitality," is a natural fit with the efforts of the BCTDA.

With an additional one percent tax approved in 1985, the advertising campaign for Buncombe County began to pay off for the community. Within 20 years of the legislation, the economic impact of tourism grew 400% in Buncombe County and now accounts for more than $1 billion in direct and non-direct spending from overnight visitors. More than 2.76 million leisure visitors stay overnight in our community, attracted by the enriching experiences they find here.

Managing the Destination

A critical shift occurred in 2001, when the industry went back to state legislators with a bill designed to create an innovative funding process for tourism product. The NC General Assembly passed the Tourism Product Development Fund (TPDF) bill which increased the room tax by one percent to a total of four percent tax. The bill dedicates the proceeds from the one percent increase (what now amounts to approximately $1.3 million annually) to the development of new tourism products that demonstrate the ability to generate substantial new room nights in Buncombe County. Rather than just a marketing organization, the Buncombe County Tourism Development Authority took a leap forward in becoming managers of the destination, ensuring its viability and sustainability.

To date, the TPDF Committee has awarded $3.8 million to area projects. Tourism funds helped build the John B. Lewis Soccer Complex, the Bonsai Garden at the North Carolina Arboretum, and the Asheville Area Chamber of Commerce's Visitor Center. It assisted with the final construction cost debt on the Grove Arcade Public Market, and funds are allocated toward the completion of the Pack Square Renaissance project and The Health Adventure's new facility.

Future Plans

In the spring of 2006, BCTDA began several processes with the aim of becoming more proactive in its development efforts. It partnered with the City of Asheville and several community organizations to bring in a destination consultant who addressed the need for signage and wayfinding to better direct visitors throughout the community. Additionally, the BCTDA hosted a first-of-its-kind charrette, which brought in product experts from around the nation to Asheville for three days of dialogue with community leaders and citizens. This visioning process is the first step in updating product recommendations that align with the Asheville brand platform, "enrich your life," and could serve as destination drivers – product that will attract visitors to the Asheville area. Through dialogue with its partners and constituent groups throughout the community, the BCTDA will continue to work toward a sustainable, vibrant destination that will generate revenue for all sectors of the community.
