

ABOUT THE FIRM

Wildes & Weinberg P.C., is our country's premier law firm concentrating in the immigration and nationality field. It grew out of the practice of Leon Wildes, Esq., a distinguished immigration practitioner in New York City. Founded in 1960, the practice, which originally represented individuals in immigration jeopardy, expanded steadily as word of its outstanding achievements spread in the international community. Today, the firm consists of three partners, fourteen associate attorneys, and a skilled staff of paralegals and support personnel totaling some 40 individuals handling the work of a distinguished and growing clientele.

The original hallmark of the firm remains our prompt and efficient service to our corporate clientele and our immediate accessibility to respond to the needs of our clients.

The firm's practice is limited to immigration and nationality law and includes every aspect of the field. Our active participation in the bar associations in the field places us at the forefront of the U.S. immigration bar and allows us to update our clients and respond quickly to changes in the law. Our reputation with the many governmental agencies involved in immigration related matters permits us to guide our corporate clients in their compliance obligations and helps train their staff through seminars and educational programs.

Wildes & Weinberg P.C. is sensitive to each individual's needs and the culture of our corporate clientele, and prides itself on our responsiveness and knowledge of the law. The staff at Wildes & Weinberg P.C. has extensive ongoing experience dealing with its clients' legal counsel and human resource personnel regarding individual cases.

Our ready access to information and our familiarity with these matters continues to be an invaluable aid in providing quick response and counsel. Since our firm provides representation in all areas of U.S. immigration litigation, we are a resource capable of providing any incidental services outside of our classic "corporate" immigration practice.
